Corrpro® Rockshield Pipe coating protection

Corrpro® Rockshield, a pipe coating shield is designed to protect pipeline coatings from damage during the installation and backfill process. The extruded grey PVC design remains pliable even in extreme cold weather applications (-40°C). The product is available in various lengths, widths and thicknesses to suit the applicable field requirements.

Features

- Permeable design does not inhibit the cathodic protection process
- Lightweight, easy to handle, store and transport
- Laboratory tested for impact resistance, low temperature bend, static puncture, tensile strength, tear strength, bacterial growth
